

BULLETIN
OF
THE TOKUGAWA INSTITUTE FOR THE HISTORY
OF FORESTRY
(Tokugawa Rinseishi Kenkyūjo Kenkyū Kiyō)

March 2004

Vol. 38

CONTENTS

Articles

- A study on how such necessities as rice and salt were secured by the people in several areas of the Province of Hida under the direct control of the Edo shogunate and on how Takayama Daikansho has dealt with the matter.Naohiro Ōta (1)
- An introductory study and behind-the-scenes stories on the control and management of those villages (Kurekinari-mura) which have contracted to do lumber production with the shogunate in Ina-gun (Ina-Dani), Shinano-no-Kuni of the Early Modern Period. Those guidelines are reinforced by case studies of the villages to which the shogunate has given an authority of their management.Noboru Tahara (19)
- Attempts to reveal the proceedings of lawsuit system adopted by the Edo shogunate in the first half of the seventeenth century, providing examples of oron (disputes) pertaining to mountains and common fields in the Kanto region.Ichirō Miyahara (43)
- Analysis on how feudal lords and their retainers have reacted to ceremony as the emperors succeeded the throne in the Edo period, describing further a commentary on the Imperial Court-warrior class relations.Kōin Shirane (75)
- The Owari-han's -Oishi (clan-patronized doctors who attended to the feudal lords and their families) in the Bakumatsu-Ishin period of a great change. Part Two.
.....Tetsunori Iwashita (103)
- Analyzes the function and structures of feudal lord's premises (Edo Kamiyashiki) in Edo in the first half of the seventeenth century, along with a commentary on the process of their building.Yōko Shibuya (139)

[Historical Material]

- Historical materials on how premises of Owari clan (Kakae-yashiki) in Ōkubo, Edo were handed over to one of their retainers. (151)

[Appendixes]

- A catalog of historical materials concerning the area over which a feudal lord named Heiuemon Chimura has had jurisdiction. (1)
- A catalog of historical materials containing particulars of source materials entitled "Koan" (1)

THE TOKUGAWA INSTITUTE FOR THE HISTORY
OF FORESTRY

(TOKUGAWA RINSEISHI KENKYŪJO)
THE TOKUGAWA REIMEIKAI FOUNDATION
8-11, Mejiro 3-chōme, Toshima-ku, Tokyo, 171-0031, Japan