

BULLETIN

OF

THE TOKUGAWA INSTITUTE FOR THE HISTORY OF FORESTRY

(Tokugawa Rinseishi Kenkyūjo Kenkyū Kiyō)

March 2005

Vol. 39

CONTENTS

Articles

- A study of the notification system of law of the Edo Shogunate at the beginning of the eighteenth century and of the leading role taken by the Shogun Yoshimune.
.....Masaumi Fukai (1)
- A study of the change in the relationship between the Shogunate and the feudal lord, with a detailed analysis of promotion process to official ranks(kanshoku · ikai) and the significance of the promotion of the Three Tokugawa families. ...Kōin Shirane (29)
- A study of the policy of tree planting by way of sashiki method practiced by Kiyomasa Ishigai who was the Nagasaki magistrate and chief treasurer at the middle of the eighteenth century, with a case study of Ina-yama in Shinshū under the direct control of the Shogunate.Noboru Tahara (55)
- A study of the roles played by the visitors from the suburbs in the occupations and life in the mountain villages, based on an analysis of Makitaya hotel register in Naguri-mura, Chichibu-gun, Saitama-ken at the end of the Meiji period.Morihiro Katō (79)
- The consideration about collecting the lumber of government possession which drifted ashore in early modern times – about the example of the Chita peninsula in the Owari.
.....Yoriko Hayashi (99)
- A study of the Edo Shogunate transport policy during the Tempo Reforms, which gives an example of the Ooi stage on the main Nakasendo road and of the transformation of the community which depended on all policies beginning by controlling the five main roads called Gokaido.Tatsuhiko Sakamoto (117)
- The Owari-han's -Oishi(clan-patronized doctors who attended to the feudal lords and their families) in the Bakumatsu-Ishin period of a great change. Part Three.
.....Tetsunori Iwashita (139)
- A study of the negotiations between the Grand Shrine of the Ise and the Owari clan regarding the supply of lumber for the regular renewal (shikinen sengu) of the Grand Shrine of the Ise building(Naiku · Geku) at Kiso-yama.Naohiro Ōta (151)

[Historical Material]

- Historical materials written by Yoshikatsu Tokugawa, head of the Owari Tokugawa family concerning his study of photographs. (161)

[Appendixes]

- A catalog of historical materials concerning the Owari Tokugawa family. Part One.
..... (1)
- A catalog of historical materials concerning the Ishiko family who was a retainer of the Owari clan. Part One. (1)

THE TOKUGAWA INSTITUTE FOR THE HISTORY OF FORESTRY

(TOKUGAWA RINSEISHI KENKYŪJO)

THE TOKUGAWA REIMEIKAI FOUNDATION

8-11, Mejiro 3-chōme, Toshima-ku, Tokyo, 171-0031, Japan